On Wednesday, July 13th, at approximately 9:30 PM, officers from the Minneapolis Police Department's Third Precinct responded to a report of shots fired inside an apartment building in the 900 block of 21st Avenue South. A mother with two young children called to report that someone had shot into her apartment.

As officers arrived on the building's third floor, they heard additional shots. Officers saw debris exploding from walls as shots were fired. Officers called for backup and worked to rescue the mother and her children from the building in this active shooter situation. Officers also worked to move others to safety who were believed to be in danger.

As those bystanders were brought to safety, officers were able to focus attention on a man who had isolated himself in a third-floor apartment.

MPD Crisis Team Negotiators and MPD SWAT responded and attempted negotiations throughout the night and early morning hours. These attempts included identifying and calling the man's cell phone as well as bringing the man's parents to the scene to help. They tried communicating through phone calls, voicemails, and video messages. Officers also made numerous attempts through a public address system to instruct the man to exit the apartment with his hands raised.

After approximately 6 hours of attempted negotiations, an officer-involved shooting occurred, resulting in life-threatening injuries to the man. The man, believed to be in his 20s, was transported to Hennepin Healthcare where he later died.
